

Values and

I

ABSTRACT

Values are internalized beliefs that help people make choices, a feeling of fundamental purpose, and a sense of priorities, and a vision of the world and recognition of reality. Values are investigated at the individual, group, and societal level like other cognitive constructs. In this way, societies, cultures, everywhere. Most people are concerned with their own interests, and they are with their own obligations. Although throughout human history, all civilizations have been concerned about the degradation of the environment. This includes: people who are self-centred and who disappear from society; the norm; and the abuse, and power, and values is multifaceted. The confluence of these factors, including the rise of materialism, consumerism, and the loss of humanity from the environment, has brought in fears of the acceleration of the process.

and values are (Adhikari & Sa convey themselves societal issues t affect women, w their comfort zon According to aca is commonly de tales that explain social structure, creation, found heroes, man's re and eschatologic develops into a v the numerous, stories that h Mythology serve makes use of the rituals of the cu principles and n employed th adaptation to a problem is more complicated, more complex. The rejection of traditions and globalisation may be a problem. Teaching children about the need to protect the environment (Saha & Careless, 2012). Careless environmental issues like ozone layer depletion, global warming, erosion, industrial pollution, overpopulation, technological advancements, and other things, have been a problem in the past century and are still a problem in the environmental context (Gorain, Adhikari, & Saha, 2012). The values of reverence and the physical existence and through which the through which the with art, literature

acting as a cruci
value acquisition

Declaration by Author
Acknowledgements
Source of Funding
Conflict of Interest
conflict of interest

REFERENCES

1. Adhikari, Shakuntala: As Author by Raja Ravi Varma of Applied Science DOI: <https://doi.org>
2. Adhikari, Humanity's Tryst with Mythology: Braiding International Journal

- Nature. International Publication and Research
21. Gorain, S. Sen, S. (2021). A social isolation and distance. EPRA International & Development <https://doi.org/10.3>
22. Gorain, S. (2021). A Study Analysis among Isolation and Person. Research Publication
23. Haldar, P. Adhikari, A. & Attitude towards Student Trainee Teachers Bengal. American Research, 10.12691/education
24. Hossain, A. women empowerment. Research Thoughts
25. Khatun, S.